

*Transfer No. 20402 - Supplement to:
Fancy Needlework Illustrated No 139.*

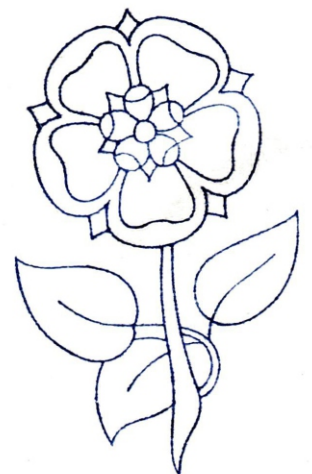

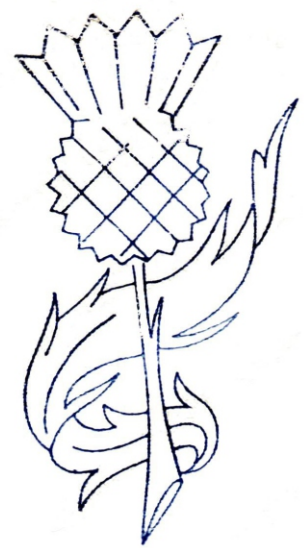

A Royal Coat of Arms for the coronation of George VI

Scanned and reproduced by the Embroiderers' Guild
On the occasion of the coronation of His Majesty King Charles III

Embroiderers' Guild

National Emblems

The Lion and the Unicorn

Note:

Transfers originally printed in the 1930s tend to become fragile over time.

This transfer had been folded, and was somewhat creased.

It has been scanned and the image corrected as much as possible without detracting from the original design. The dragon, the lion and the unicorn have been extracted from the main coat of arms, so they can be used individually if wished

You are welcome to use these designs for your own work
They should not be sold or shared for commercial purposes.

We would love to see what you make!

Embroiderers' Guild